SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 20.

TERRIBLE PREDICAMENT OF A BOY.—Saturday afternoon a boy about eleven years of age, while crawling along the leads of a house on 3d street, near Bryant, for the purpose of clearing the obstructions in the water pipe, slipped and rolled over the edge of the roof. In his desperate efforts to save himself, he succeeded in grasping the raised edge of the roof, and the wood and tin that bordered the roof, and so hung, suspended by his hands, forty feet above the street, utterly unable to regain his footing. The accident was witnessed by a woman on the opposite sidewalk, and her screams brought at once to her side three men, who saw with horror and amazement the predicament of the poor boy, who, without a cry or struggle, was hanging over certain death, with only the frail grasp of his weak hands. They ran across the street into the house and up stairs towards the attic, when, as they reached the second story, a sudden thought struck the last man, and he let his companions go without him. Underneath where the boy was hanging is a small old-fashioned porch which projects out about three feet from under the centre window of the second story, and out of this window the woman on the opposite side of the street, and those with her, saw a man step on the porch and look up. As he stood he was immediately under the boy, but too close to the house for his apparent purpose, the boy hanging just over the railing; he stepped over the latter, and with his feet resting on the edge of the platform of the porch and one hand grasping an iron support, he waited. In the meantime the other two men had reached the roof, and were descending, when they discovered the impossibility of reaching the boy in safety, and one of them called for a rope. Before any one could move to the aid of the exhausted boy, he with a shrill cry let go his hold and fell. As he approached the man on the porch, the latter was seen to reach out his free arm under him, and then the boy was grasped by him. A cry of horror went up from the crowd as the man was seen to stagger and swing around the end of the porch with his head; but his hand held his grip on the iron, and a moment afterwards he carried the boy through the window and turned him over to his mother, who had only just realized that something was wrong. The name of the man whose presence of mind enabled him to save a life, and whose courage made him forget the risk of losing his own, is Campbell Williams. —San Francisco Bulletin.

LEGAL NOTICES.

VIRGINIA: At Rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Alexandria county, on the first day of January, 1872: Nathaniel Boush, John C. Graham and John A. Dixon, executors of Henry Chatham, deceased, who sue for themselves and such other creditors as may unite in the suit, plaintiffs, against Gasper Tochman and other defendants, in chancery. The object of this suit is to obtain a decree declaring the deed from the defendant, James M. Stewart, to the defendant, O. S. X. Peck, and the deed from the said O. S. X. Peck to the said James M. Stewart, both of which deeds are in the bill mentioned, to be null and void, and to ascertain the liens on the land thereby conveyed and their priorities; also to ascertain the amounts due on the several deeds of trust, executed by the defendant, G. Tochman, not having entered his appearance and given security according to the act of Assembly, and the rules of this Court, and it appearing by affidavit that he is not a resident of this State: It is ordered that the said defendant, G. Tochman, do appear after due publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit, and that a copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the city of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this county. A copy, test: GEORGE C. SEATON, Clerk. Brent & Wattle, p. q. jan 9-law4w

VIRGINIA: At Rules held in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Alexandria County, on the 6th day of November, 1871: Robert T. Arlow, plaintiff, against John R. Dickson, defendant. In case and upon an attachment. The object of this suit is to recover of the defendant $38.83, with interest thereon from the 4th day of August, 1871, till paid, the amount claimed by the plaintiff, and to attach the estate of the defendant for the payment of the same. The defendant, John R. Dickson, not having entered his appearance and given security according to the act of Assembly and the rules of this Court, and it appearing by affidavit that he is not a resident of this State, it is ordered that the said defendant appear here within one month after due publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit, and that a copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the city of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this county.
